MONA's Elektra exhibition – and this sculpture - prompted me to express feelings of helplessness, hopelessness and anger at the status quo in almost every aspect of life: political, social, financial, environmental.

I began making works as a way to vent, to rage, and simply say:

What the Fuck?

or WTF, to be a little more polite.

NO, No, no ... just NO - to so many stupid actions, inactions and incompetencies.

SOS – can we save ourselves from ourselves?

Have a good rage...vent your feelings - with help from vocal jewellery.

But... if that all feels too much, see the installation of healing amber works inside. Amber is thought to soothe anxiety, promote calm and positive energy and support emotional balance.

And look good too ...

Worth a try?
